COMING ALONG.

TALK of the country, it's coming along.
Help it a bit with a smile and a song.
Feel that you trust it, and say it right out.
Once Sam knows what he's talking about.
Talk of the country.
You better be sure
It's going to grow.
And it's bound to endure.

Talk of the country; don't feel the alarm
Of those that are seeking to do it some harm.
Just you believe that it's right, and you'll find
There are lots of your neighbors exactly your mind.

Talk of the country, it's humming away,
As busy as ever
At work and at play.

Talk of the country; it's going the gall,
Swinging along to a livelier tale.
Merry and merry with business and strife,
Progress and honor and beauty of life.

Talk of your country.
No use to fear
The taunt of the cynic.
The scoff and the sneer.

Talk of the country; it's fine as you'd wish;
Bubbling and humming, its old flag
Its heart in communion with right and with truth.
Strong in each muscle and sound in each tooth.

Talk of the country;
Help it a bit
With a smile and a song.
—Baltimore Sun.

HIDDEN TREASURE.

MOTHER keeps a hidden treasure in a bureau drawer she locks.
And the treasure chest that holds it's a sawed paper box.
And the treasure that is in it's really nothing much to see.
But's guarded as the jewels of a throne could never be.
Just a little baby slipper, worn all shiny on the sole.
Just a tiny little stocking, in the toe a tiny hole.
And the tiny feet that wore them in the journies of the past
Are tottling now in memories that all her life will last.

WHEN she takes the tiny treasure from its secret hiding place Somehow softer lights seem fallen on her dear old mother face.
And the loving hand caresses are a silent
mother prayer
For the footstep of the baby that she seems to vision there.
For the baby that had worn them is a baby to her still In a corner of her heart no other love can ever fill.
Yes, the baby that had worn them, baby still will always be.
Though the years have turned that baby into great, big grownup me.
—Eaton Conklin.

WHICH ARE YOU?

THERE are two kinds of people on earth today.
Just two kinds of people, no more.
I say.
Not the sinner and saint, for 'tis well understood That the good are half bad and the bad are half good.
Not the rich and the poor, for to count a man's wealth
You must know the state of his conscience and health.
Not the humble and proud, for in life's little span
Who puts on vain airs is not counted a man.
Not the happy and sad, for the swift flying years
Bring each man his laughter and each man his tears.
No; the two kinds of people on earth that I mean
Are the people who lift and the people who lean.
Wherever you go you will find the world's masses
Are always divided in just those two classes.
And, oddly enough, you will find, too, I mean.
There is only one lifter to twenty who leans.
In which class are you? Are you easing the load
Of overtaxed lifters who toll down the road,
Or are you a leaner who lets others bear
Your portion of labor and worry and care?
—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

THE WIND.

SERVANT of the Lord, I wait.
Attentive to his will.
At his behest I range the plain.
The valley and the hill.

I stir the ocean in its sleep;
I churn the curdling foam
And lift the billows from the deep
And bear the wild bird home.

I pluck the old man by the beard.
I toy with maiden's hair.
I rock the young birds in their nests.
I drive away dull care.

I sing through forests old and dank
And whisper in the ear
Of crouching marmots in their sleep
And start the timid deer.

I make a music midst the leaves—
I melt soft and low—
And fill the air with minstrelsy
As when the pipers blow.
—John S. Vaughan.

FOUR LEAF CLOVER.

I KNOW a place where the sun is like a gold.
And the cherry blossoms burst with snow.
And underneath is the loveliest nook.
Where the four leaf clovers grow.

One leaf is for hope, and one is for faith,
And one is for love, you know.
And God put another in for luck—
If you search you will find where they grow.

But you must have hope, and you must have faith;
You must love and be strong—and so, if you work, if you wait, you will find the place
Where the four leaf clovers grow.
—Ella Higginson.

THE SWATTER.

THERE is a light thousand eyes
And I but two.
But the light of the morning dies
When I leave in view.
—Selected.

THIS hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world.
Was true, no doubt, when babies still in cradle depths were curled.
Swapping merrily in saddle—with strict regard for fact.

What it was mostly mother's foot that did the rocking act.

BUT anyway there's out of date. The babies of today
In sanitary, metal cradles are safely tucked away.
And as to ruling the world, my without exaggeration
The hand that runs the auto pretty nearly rules the world.
—Walter G. Day.

THE END OF THE ROAD.

WE who have passed our three-score years and ten
Have learned what courage braves hearts must hold.
And how, for life's last test,
we pray again
For courage to be old.

We do not realize our fleeting days.
We watch the sweep of life and feel its thrill,
Admire its progress, its achievements praise
And share its service still.

Until some day the tasks once lightly met Grow strangely irksome to our weakened hold.
Our steps are slow, we helplessly forget,
And know that we are old.

The young companions use for the lapse
Of memory, for failing eye and ear.
They smile at us, indulgently, perhaps.
To them old age is dear.

Oh, strong, glad heart of youth, it is not so!
Though ends the road among the falling leaves,
An open gate beyond the sunset glow
The truthful soul perceives.

Of earthly blessings age is not the least.
Serenity, the twilight glow, the journey past.
Like that rare draft at Cana's marriage feast,
Life's best wine is the last.
—Frances E. Pope.

REMEMBER BOYS MAKE MEN.

WHEN you see a ragged urchin
Standing weevil in the street,
With torn hat and kneeless trousers,
Dirty face and bare, red feet,
Pass not by the child unheeding.
Smile upon him. Mark me, when He's grown he'll not forget it.
For, remember, boys make men.

WHEN the buoyant youthful spirit
Overflows in boyish freak,
Chide your child in gentle accents;
Do not in your anger speak.
You must sow in youthful bosoms
Seeds of tender mercies; then
Plants will grow and bear good fruitage,
When the erring boys are men.

HAVE you never seen a grandchild,
With his eyes aglow with joy,
Bring to mind some act of kindness,
Something said to him a boy?
Or relate some slight or coldness
With a brow all clouded, when
He said they were too thoughtless
To remember boys make men?

LET us try to add some pleasures
To the life of every boy.
For each child needs tender interest
In its sorrows and its joy.
Call your boys home by your brightness;
They'll avoid a gloomy den.
And seek for comfort elsewhere,
And, remember, boys make men.
—Unidentified.

MY QUEST.

I SOUGHT for Love over the ocean wide,
In a distant place beyond the sea.
For his smile with a passionate voice
I cried,
But only the waves moaned back to me.

I sought for Love on the mountain high,
Where the clouds blew white on the misty air.
Brave and sweet and long was my cry,
But echo returned my unanswered prayer.

I sought for Love on the desert drier,
With yearning lips and heart aflame, Calling, "Come to me, my sweet, my dear."
But, alas, and alas, Love never came.

I went back weary and worn and spent,
With broken spirit and wounded pride,
Then my soul was filled with glad content,
For Love waited there at my own fireside.
—Mary Wilson Todd.

TARDINESS.

THEY say it is a rule
In every kind of school
That he who comes too late
Within the entrance gate
Must listen to the teacher's scold,
And lots of dreadful things be told!

I WONDER can't there be
On mountain, plain or sea
A school of any sort,
A kingdom or a court,
Where folks can come a little late Without a scolding—which they hate!
—Anonymous.

DEBTS.

MY debt to you, beloved,
Is one I cannot pay
In any coin of any realm
On any reckoning day.

FOR where is he shall figure
The debt, when all is said,
To one who makes you dream again
When all the dreams were dead?

Oh where is the appraiser
Who shall the claim compute
Of one who makes you sing again
When all the songs were mute?
—Jessie K. Rittenhouse.

Tonoline Is Beauty Aid, Announces Specialist

Mildred Louise Talk of Interest to Women.

As health is a first aid to beauty this story, told by Mildred Louise, beauty specialist, of Boston, Mass., is of unusual interest.

"I can recommend no better health giver than tonoline," said Mildred Louise.

"I was for many months a victim of stomach trouble and nervousness. I had suffered terribly from pains that followed eating. Headaches also would add to my worries. Poor digestion finally brought on nervousness.

"Relief came, however, when I took the advice of several women who said, 'Take tonoline.'

"Not long after, I started the tonoline treatment, and my pains began to remind me of the improvement in my condition. And because health is the quickest way to beauty, the improvement was particularly noticeable in my face.

"What tonoline really did for me I cannot say. I am so grateful that I am very willing to recommend 'tonoline' publicly."

Tonoline is a purely vegetable preparation which goes to the seat of common maladies—stomach and kidney trouble, catarrhal affections of the mucous membranes, liver ailments and impurities of the blood—and quickly restores proper action. Tonoline is being explained daily to many people at your druggist's.

Notice:—As tonoline is a wonderful flesh builder it should not be taken by any one not wishing to increase his weight ten pounds or more. Although many reports are received from tonoline in severe cases of stomach trouble and nervous dyspepsia, chronic constipation, etc.
